Eagle Point and A2K Technologies come together to bring continuous learning, knowledge capture & sharing and productivity to Australia and New Zealand

New Technology Partnership Brings Continuous Learning, Knowledge Capture and Sharing, Productivity To Australia And New Zealand

DUBUQUE, IA — May 21, 2019 — Eagle Point Software announced they have signed an Authorized Sales & Service Business Partner Agreement with Australian technology solutions provider, A2K Technologies.

This agreement adds Eagle Point’s robust Pinnacle Series platform to A2K’s design technology service offerings.

In addition to classroom and on-site training, the Pinnacle Series is now available to A2K’s Autodesk users in Australia and New Zealand.

“Our focus has always been on improving the AEC industry through innovative solutions, so we are excited to offer the best learning, knowledge management and productivity platform to A2K’s customers. Finalizing this partnership allows us to expand our impact by bringing those benefits to Australian and New Zealand AEC organizations. Additionally, we are impressed with the level of service and professionalism that A2K is known for,” John Biver, President & CEO at Eagle Point.

“A2K Technologies is excited to bring Eagle Point Software’s Pinnacle Series Platform to the Australia and New Zealand market. We’re committed to providing the best-in-class products and services across the architecture, engineering, construction, manufacturing and infrastructure industries, and adding Pinnacle Series will provide our clients a platform for targeted, flexible learning and productivity” Fari Fanaeyan, CEO at A2K Technologies.

Pinnacle Series will make its debut at BILT ANZ in Melbourne from May 23-25. Other activities are being planned throughout the coming year.
