Eagle Point Software and IMAGINiT Technologies extends partnership another two years

Dubuque, IA, May 12, 2020: Eagle Point Software Corporation and IMAGINiT Technologies, a division of Rand Worldwide, have extended their OEM Partnership to continue bringing learning, knowledge capture & sharing and productivity to IMAGINiT's Autodesk users through the Pinnacle Series.

With this extended agreement, Eagle Point's platform, the Pinnacle Series, will enable IMAGINiT's clients continued access to best in class learning content available via IMAGINiT's ProductivityNOW offering.

IMAGINiT's ProductivityNOW leverages the Pinnacle Series platform and training content as well as provides an additional value to IMAGINiT's customers by offering access to ASCENT Courseware, Live Lecture Series webinars, and Live Technical Support through the solution. ProductivityNOW is available in a variety of plans designed to meet the needs of small, medium and large enterprise-sized organizations.

In announcing the extension, John Biver, President/CEO of Eagle Point, said, "Eagle Point and IMAGINiT Technologies have worked really well together over the last two years. We've brought great value and productivity gains to many AEC and Manufacturing organizations throughout North America. We couldn't be more excited to extend this agreement so that we can help even more organizations. IMAGINiT Technologies has a great relationship with their customers and truly provides added value through the features they've added to the platform."

"We are pleased to renew our partnership with Eagle Point, the engine behind our ProductivityNOW eLearning and Support platform," commented Kevin Kuker, Vice President, Training and Support Solutions at IMAGINiT Technologies. "With Eagle Point's continued investment in the platform as well as the ongoing creation of new content, our decision to extend our partnership was an easy one to make. This year we look forward to leveraging their dedicated customer success managers ensuring our customers have the tools they need to optimize their ROI when deploying and adopting ProductivityNOW across their organization."
